For 67 Years A Dependable Salem Institution

School, Parks Levies Up For Vote Nov. 6

Salem voters, in addition to deciding office contests at the Nov. 6 general election, will mark ballots on at least two special issues. These will include: Salem School District, 4.5-mill levy for operating expenses; a renewal to run five years. Salem city, half-mill levy for parks and playgrounds. Perry Township fire district (outside Salem proper), 2.20 mills for two years for purchasing tank truck and .80 mills for five years for fire protection. In Columbiana County as a whole one of the longest lists of special questions and issues will face voters, totaling an aggregate of $858,000.

Operating Expense Levies

The levies comprising the bulk of the 38 propositions mostly are for current operating expenses in cities, villages, townships and school districts. An initiative ordinance awaits a decision at Lisbon. It would repeal a village measure that fixes a 3 per cent tax on admissions. East Liverpool's interest will center on a 3-mill levy designed to provide $105,000 annually over its five year life, mainly to insure a pay boost for municipal employees and help the city catch up with the rising cost of materials and equipment.

In addition to East Liverpool, these cities will vote on levies: East Palestine, renewal of two measures of 1-mill each, one for park maintenance and the other for street maintenance; Wellsville, an additional nine-tenths mills for street lighting.

United School Bond Issue

United Local School District will vote on $211,000 in bonds for school additions and alterations and equipping its school building. East Palestine will ballot on a $290,000 issue for a school building program. The Salineville district will pass on a $45,000 issue to construct and equip a school cafeteria and kitchen.

Leetonia awaits a vote on $35,000 in bonds to erect a fire station and purchase a truck. Washingtonville village will vote on two bond issues—$35,000 and $27,000, respectively—to pay part of the cost of a sewage system.

Wellsville has the biggest bond issue proposal in the district—$200,000 to aid in construction of a municipal sewage disposal system. All bond issues require a 55 per cent affirmative vote for approval.

Levy Proposals Shown

Village levy proposals, all for current operating expenses, are: Leetonia, 1 1/4 mills; Rogers, 3-mills and Summitville, 3-mills. The Rogers levy would be collected for five years, the others for two.

Plane Ditches In Pacific; 32 On Board Are Saved

Transport Breaks In Half on Hitting Ocean After Circling 3 Hours

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A big Pan American transport plane, with two engines in trouble, ditched in the Pacific Ocean today and the Coast Guard quickly rescued all 32 survivors.

The plane, en route from Honolulu to San Francisco, broke in half upon hitting the water. She ditched about midway between Honolulu and San Francisco.

Six women and three children were among the passengers. Previous reports said 31 persons were aboard, but the Coast Guard confirmed it had rescued 32 persons.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Pan American plane with 31 persons aboard ditched and broke in half at dawn today in the Pacific Ocean, 1,045 miles southwest of San Francisco.

The big Boeing strato-cruiser, en route from Honolulu to San Francisco "ditched at 8:16 a. m. (PST) and upon contact broke in half" a message from the Coast Guard said.

"Four rafts in water," said a message from the cutter Pontchartrain.

"Many survivors apparent. We have two boats in water. Every effort being made to rescue."

Ike Starts 5-Day Air Campaign Through West

California Added To Schedule; President Praises GOP Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower set out today on his most ambitious vote seeking effort for two years for purchasing tank truck and .80 mills for five years for fire protection.

Accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and members of his White House staff, the president took off at 8:01 a. m. EST aboard his private plane Columbine III. There was no fanfare as the White House party arrived at the military air transport terminal and boarded the plane. Eisenhower only paused briefly on the ramp and waved for photographers, then went inside.

His 5,850-mile itinerary calls for eight speeches in five Western states with return to Washington Saturday evening. It shaped up as Eisenhower's most extensive trip, by far, since the start of his reelection drive.

To Stop At Minnesota

First scheduled stop was in Minnesota for midday talks in St. Paul and Minneapolis. Then he flies on to Washington and Oregon.

The White House announced Eisenhower had decided to make a speech in California on this trip, which started out as a three-day sortie, then was expanded to four days, and now to five.

He will make a major address in the Hollywood Bowl at Los Angeles Friday evening. An airport talk in Denver, which had been scheduled for about noon Friday,

$17,528 For Chest Needed

65 Per Cent Of Goal Obtained In Campaign

With today marking the end of the second week of the Salem Community Chest Fund drive, $17,528 in funds must be obtained to gain the goal of $54,563.

As of this morning a total of $37,035.94 has been collected in the drive, monies from which will be distributed among 11 "Red Feather" agencies. Milton Steiner, general chairman of the drive, voiced the wish that all workers who have completed solicitations but have not turned them in do so at once. Al. Steiner said if workers have not completed solicitations they should begin immediately to finish them up.

Officials and workers had hoped to reach the goal by the end of the two-week period. However, Steiner said that about 65 per cent of the goal has been attained.

Breakdown of team collections as of this morning include: general team, $19,174.50; local employees, $305; organizations and clubs, $429.50; business, $1,795.05; schools, $1,038; industrial employees, $9,199.35.

Nixon Seeks To Refute Adlai's 'Misstatements'

U.S. Will Aid Any Victim of Attack In Middle East

Dulles Gives Nation's Position; Syria Sends Weapons Into Jordan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles emphatically reasserted today that the United States would give aid within constitutional limits to any victim of aggression in the crisis-ridden Middle East.

The question of the U. S. position was raised at a news conference in connection with reports of impending Iraqi troop movements into Jordan and consequent Israeli nervousness about possible new fighting in the area.

Syrian arms—which Dulles said could be Soviet or Western in origin—are already moving into Jordan.

To Stabilize Government

Arab sources have said—and American officials support the explanation—that Jordan asked Iraqi troops to stabilize the government of King Hussein against collapse.

Israel took the position however that entry of Iraqi troops would violate the 1949 Palestine Armistice and could lead to war.

On Other Matters:

1. In a statement, Dulles said that last week's U. N. Security Council discussion of the Suez Canal controversy had resulted in "progress toward achieving a just and peaceful solution of the Suez crisis."

2. Dulles said he must reserve the right to edit the transcript of his news conferences even to the extent of changing the substance of what he said if, following a conference, he finds he has blundered in a manner which might jeopardize U. S. foreign relations. He took his position in response to reporters' questioning about past changes.

3. Dulles expressed confidence, in the face of criticism from Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson, that the Eisenhower administration will find a way to bring the hydrogen bomb under effective control if such a way exists.

Implying that Stevenson has not fully understood what he was talking about in pressing for an end of H-bomb tests, Dulles said he doubted whether anyone not fully acquainted with the details of the problem could know what the best possible solution is.

4. Dulles said that he could not

Ike Holds Back Jets From Tito

Wants Explanation Of Talks With Russians

WASHINGTON (AP)—Yugoslav Marshal Tito must give a satisfactory explanation of his confidential talks with Russian leaders before he can get promised American jet warplanes.

President Eisenhower made this clear Monday night in authorizing only limited military aid to Yugoslavia "until the situation can be more accurately appraised during the days to come."

200 Jets Held Up

Eisenhower specifically banned delivery, for the present at least, of more than 200 American Sabre Jet and Thunderjet fighters, previously earmarked for Yugoslavia along with howitzers, tanks and other heavy military equipment.

At the same time, he declared Tito's government eligible for full economic aid which has helped prop up Yugoslavia since it broke with Moscow in 1948. But he qualified even this by noting pointedly this decision would be reviewed constantly to make certain it "remains justified in future circumstances."

This double-barreled decision was set forth in a report to Congress, which had called on Eisenhower to file by today on whether

Planet Visits Far Distant, Astronomer Tells Town Hall

The hazards apparent in prospective interplanetary space travel were denoted by the Dr. I. M. Levitt, astronomer, who spoke before a crowd of some 300 persons last night in the first Salem Town Hall session of the season. Walter Strain introduced the speaker.

Dr. Levitt whose diversified activities include work as an inventor, scientist, and director of the Philadelphia Fels Planetarium, used as his subject, "Journey Into Space." He predicted the first H-bomb detonation.

A definite detriment to space travel, according to Dr. Levitt, would be the fear of an encounter with the millions of meteorites which float through space at a speed of 25 miles per second.

One of these meteorites only the size of a man's thumb could completely annihilate a space ship as large as a school building, the astronomer declared.

Another difficulty is the fact that conditions change once a human being or object gets beyond the pull of the earth's gravitation, the speaker noted.

The power of the senses are greatly diminished or undergo a definite change in space travel, he said. Fliers who have momentarily gone beyond the gravity's pull have experienced such a change.

The validity of "flying saucers" was completely refuted by the scientist who said that no viewers of

4,000 Hear Vice President In Youngstown

Nixon Says American Labor Never Had It So Good As Under Ike

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Vice President Nixon, seeking to refute what he calls "misstatements of fact" by Adlai Stevenson, worked today on a reply to Stevenson's proposals for international negotiations to stop H-bomb tests.

The Democratic nominee said Monday night that if he were elected president he would promptly follow up what he termed an "opportunity" presented by Britain and Russia to discuss a halt in testing the big nuclear weapons.

Nixon's campaign, aimed at areas which Republicans consider in need of special vote-seeking effort, swings across part of Indiana today and to Buffalo, N.Y., for a major address tonight.

About 4,000 persons, including many from Salem and vicinity, heard the vice president at Idora Park in Youngstown last night. Included were about 50 from Salem in a motorcade.

Follows Grueling Schedule

Nixon bluntly disagreed with Stevenson Monday on economic matters. Following a grueling schedule of talks in industrial glass and steel centers in Ohio Nixon repeatedly said that American labor never had it so good as under President Eisenhower's administration.

He said in Toledo that if anyone questioned Eisenhower's integrity and desire to improve the living conditions of Americans, "he is engaging in low-road campaigning in the worst Harry Truman tradition."

And in steel-producing Youngstown, Nixon said Stevenson sounds "more and more like Harry Truman."

Nixon said also that Stevenson was showing desperation and set-

Nixon Has Big Day In Ohio On Monday

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Vice President Nixon had a big day in Ohio Monday, for it was a day when:

Mrs. Pat Nixon autographed a little boy's hand at a school near Toledo (at the boy's request)...

The vice president told Defiance College students that when he went out for football "I wound up sitting on the coach with the bench..."

A circus elephant hired for an airport welcome at Warren packed and bounded down the highway when a jet whooshed overhead, just before the vice president's plane arrived. (Jumbo's trainer gave chase and soothed the critter down in time)...

Mayor Ollie (Cezeluta) of Toledo, the "glass city," handed Nixon a glass key to the city and the vice president inquired innocently, "Is this plastic made in Toledo?"...

A local candidate was literally crowded off the platform in Maumee, receiving nothing worse than a few bruises...

Nixon's breathlessly paced Ohio tour included five formal speeches in as many different cities, several informal ones, and three news conferences.

Nixon said he was delighted with his reception everywhere and "amazed" at it in some places. Mrs. Nixon, mother of two, said she doesn't think she'll autograph any more hands.

Somebody reminded her the child might refuse to wash it.

Carries States Rights, Tax Reform Banner Andrews, 3rd Party Nominee, Begins Presidential Campaign

RICHMOND, a. (AP)—T. Coleman Andrews, who served for three years as chief tax collector of the Eisenhower administration, set out today to present his own presidential candidacy as "a new home for the orphaned members of both the old parties."

The 57-year-old Richmond conservative was designated to carry the states rights-tax reform third party banner at a whooping rally Monday night.

On Ballots In 14 States Andrews and his running mate, former Republican Congressman Thomas H. Werdel of Bakersfield, Calif., are on the ballots in 14 states. In Virginia, at least where both major parties regard the outcome of the election doubtful Andrews' candidacy could tip the result one way or the other. Virginia went for Eisenhower in 1952 by an 80,000-vote margin.

The former tax chief, an Eisenhower Democrat in 1952, told some 3,000 supporters Monday night he didn't know whether his candidacy would draw strength mainly from

County Employees To Get Pay Increases

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners have appropriated money for the balance of 1956, starting Oct. 1 which, if used by the department heads as wages, will allow Courthouse employees a $10 a month raise, county highway department employees will receive about $21.66 a month on hourly raise and county home employees will get about $5 a month raise.

Galen Greenisen, president of the board, said that this was a cost of living raise and that the employees requested it earlier in the year, but they couldn't see their way clear to give it to them at that time.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Since I have reported that Harry Bridges, friend of the Soviet people, has quit his job as a California Republican I now galantly give equal time to the Democratic side.

Those other friends of the Soviets, the Communist Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, have just endorsed Stevenson and Kefauver.

Neither major party has much choice while being chosen bedfellows by the comrades of comrades. Fact is that the national candidates may not even know of these endorsements, which fascinate me not as political phenomena but as studies in typical Soviet-style self-degradation.

Victor Riesel

THESE ATIONS show how low the comrades can get on the intellectual totem pole. Let's take a look at Harry Bridges, for example. He is leader of the usually pro-Communist International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, which has tight control on Pacific shipping and the territorial installations on the Hawaiian Islands.

Harry Bridges has known for a while that one of the government's utterly unimpeachable and most knowledgeable investigators, Judge Robert Morris, has been planning to probe Bridges and his union. Judge Morris, now counsel for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, has been in Hawaii for some time now methodically and personally gathering evidence for the upcoming Pacific Coast hearings.

Bridges' people have been keeping a sharp eye on Judge Morris, who has ripped holes in and let light into many a Communist conspiracy.

AND SO, BY COINCIDENCE, Harry Bridges comes up with a new "Who me?" look and registers Republican in time to vote in this election.

Not too many weeks after Harry spread his fine red glow over California politics, his friends in the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union endorsed the Democrats. Here, too, coincidence raises its intriguing head.

It just so happens that a federal grand jury which is sitting in Denver, home of the union, has been hearing witnesses for weeks on Communist infiltration of this union—which, if it ever called its people out on strike could just about wipe out mining and smelting of uranium, nickel and copper, still production of atomic and hydrogen bombs and slash supplies of high octane aviation gas. That's all.

So important are these hearings that William (Tommy) Tompkins, former mob-smasher and now assistant U.S. attorney general in charge of Internal Security, flew out to help direct the probe.

THE DENVER grand jury will reconvene on Oct. 2, and you can get odds in its corner that there will be 10 or 12 indictments out of the sealed chamber. The charges will be pegged on alleged violation of the law requiring union officials to swear they are not Communists.

It so happens that not too many months ago, six officials of this union were asked under oath to deny affiliation with the Khrushchev circuit. They all ran for the Fifth Amendment and deep freeze silence.

So what does this union do right smack during the grand jury hearings?

The union's executive board adopts a statement "making it clear" that it is "not Communist dominated" and that it "has no sympathy with Communism." This is fine. But years too late. The Mine, Mill was heaved out of the CIO by a jury of its peers for following the Communist line. Many of its leaders have been charged with Communist activity by witnesses before Congressional committees.

ITS NATIONAL attorney, Nathan Witt, has refused under oath to deny knowledge of espionage when asked to do so by Congressional probes.

Maurice Travis, the union's former secretary-treasurer has been found guilty of violating the non-Communist affidavit law and is under heavy sentence and fine.

If these people are Democrats and Harry Bridges is a Republican, Mickey Mantle has just signed a petition outlawing baseball.

The leftwingers have debased themselves and made a mockery of their own principles. They've camouflaged themselves to survive instead of fighting for what they really believe.

"TRICK OR TREAT"

Very soon your children will be going from door to door, playing "tricks or treats", and your young neighbors will be knocking at your own door.

In addition to the traditional treats you have ready for them, it's a good idea to have plenty of flash bulbs and Kodak Film on hand for snapshots of the colorful little "creatures" who call on you for their yearly "tribute."

Children's Halloween fun presents picture-taking opportunities that are just too good to miss. And with the new Kodacolor Film, you can capture the full effect of their colorful costumes. Kodacolor is "color-balanced" so that you can use the same roll outdoors, or indoors with clear flash. Any Kodak color film is as easy to use as black and white. You can get excellent color snaps with the simplest type of camera.

We'd like to show you the latest Kodak and Brownie snapshot cameras, priced as low as $4.95, and we'll be delighted to give you suggestions for good Halloween pictures, too.

Dead Pilot's Estate Sues Light Company

LOS ANGELES — The estate of Joel W. Thorne has filed a half million dollar suit against Pacific Airmotive Corp., described as the company which attached special lights to Thorne's plane before it crashed into an apartment house last October.

Eight occupants of the apartment house were killed.

Atomic Radiation Kills Physician

PHILADELPHIA — Exposure to atomic radiation in a government laboratory between 8 and 10 years ago has taken the life of a Philadelphia physician, the city medical examiner said.

Medical Examiner Joseph W. Spelman issued his finding after an inquest into the death last July 24 of Dr. Kenneth A. Koerber, 50, of Philadelphia. Dr. Koerber had worked in the Atomic Energy Commission's Brookhaven National Laboratories, Upton, N. Y., between 1946 and 1948. He inspected laboratories to protect workers from radiation.

Dr. Spelman said the radiation was probably cumulative instead of a single dose.

Dr. Spelman said that from the time Dr. Koerber left Brookhaven until his death he was in failing health.

What put the magic in the new kind of FORD?

The new Ford Fairlane 500 (118-inch wheelbase). Longer, lower, larger than many medium-priced cars, yet lower in price than most of them!

The roof got lower. And it's designed to let you make the easy entries and graceful exits you've always known.

The body got quieter. It's the strongest body ever built for a low-priced car. And no car in Ford's field has such generous sound-proofing.

The room got bigger. There's head room to spare for a tycoon-type hat. There's real stretch-out leg room, too.

The lines got sweeter. Ford gives you the longest, lowest, low-priced car ever. Each graceful contour of its sculptured-in-steel body says, "Let's go!"

The style got smarter. With this new-look Ford you have a car that belongs anywhere! Example: all Fairlane models, including sedans, have the look of a hardtop.

The value got greater... and the price is still Ford-low. The result—even more promise of buying a car that will keep its value high... a car that will stay worth more.

Nuclear Politics

With due respect for Adlai Stevenson's personal thoughts about the horror of nuclear warfare and the necessity of preventing it, we do not believe his countrymen will agree with him that he has found a "winning campaign issue" in proposals to stop this country's H-bomb tests.

The government of the United States has done everything it can do to gain the confidence of the Soviet Union in working out a mutual agreement for international control of atomic fission and fusion. It has tried under the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower administrations to keep its atomic energy projects on a broad bipartisan basis at home.

Yet, for partisan purposes the Democratic candidate for president is trying to open a breach in national policy. Already, the breach has appeared in the Joint Atomic Energy Committee of Congress, whose Democratic members have split off in support of their own presidential candidate and against the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Lewis L. Strauss.

It has been an unwritten rule that politics should "stop at the water's edge." Politics should stop at the brink of oblivion, too.

National security in the atomic era is not a political issue. All of us want to prevent nuclear warfare. But preventing will not be furthered on the stump in the confusion of a national campaign when candidates will say anything to win votes.

Adlai Stevenson's remark that he has found a "winning campaign issue" in his proposals for stopping nuclear fission tests is unworthy of his stature as the Democratic party's presidential candidate.

Bear By The Tail

Democrats have rounded up a group of nuclear scientists to back Adlai Stevenson's proposals for banning H-bomb tests—but their backing will be inconclusive.

When Harry Truman was president, he too was under tremendous scientific pressure to ban not only H-bomb tests but the H-bomb. He was castigated for giving the order to use the A-bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, which in itself was a kind of test.

In one of the most engrossing conflicts of opinion among 20th century men, the federal government and Robert Oppenheimer and his backers locked horns in a showdown over national and private responsibility for the handling of policy in the atomic era.

It was determined as clearly as anything of such magnitude could be determined that national responsibility was dominant over private responsibility, in the absence of any means of establishing international responsibility; o. e., a trusteeship of all men over a force powerful enough to wipe out all mankind.

Until such a means has been established, the Truman administration and the Eisenhower administration have contended that national responsibility must continue to be dominant. The issue that Mr. Stevenson is raising in a campaign is whether or not the Eisenhower administration should be criticized in a political campaign for doing what the preceding Truman administration did—and for doing what a Stevenson administration would do if it had national responsibility.

Mr. Stevenson thinks he has found a winning campaign issue in nuclear fission. What he has found is a bear to grab by the tail.

Splintered Out

A death certificate for another splinter party was filed in history this week by the New York chairman of the American Labor party. After 20 years of first-rate nuisance value in New York City, the American Laborites have folded up.

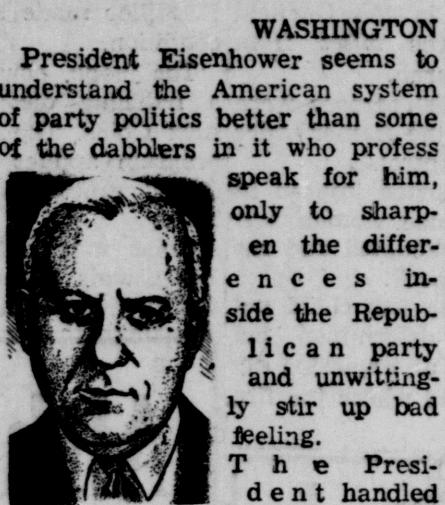

Their numerous deals for minority influence reached a climax in 1948 when the party polled half a million votes for Henry Wallace, running for president at the head of the Communist-tinged Progressive party. The color scheme was ideal for the American Labor party, which was infiltrated with Communists and whose saint was the late Rep. Vito Marcantonio, who never was known to deviate from the Communist line.

There will be no welcoming committee in the Valhalla of American political parties when the shabby ghost of the American Labor party arrives. Know Nothings, Populists, Constitutional Unionists, Whigs, Federalists, Secessionists, Native American, Anti-Masonic, Libertyites, Free Soilers, Labor Reformers, Liberal Republicans, National Independents, Greenbackers, Anti-Monopolists, Gold Democrats, Independents, Progressives, Unionists and all the others made their little niches in history and died as they had been born—as homegrown minorities. It remains to be disproved that the American Labor party found its inspiration abroad.

Party Leadership

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Ike Understands U. S. Political System

WASHINGTON President Eisenhower seems to understand the American system of party politics better than some of the dabblers in it who profess to speak for him, only to sharpen the differences inside the Republican party and unwittingly stir up bad feeling.

The President handled tactfully at his press conference the other day an obvious attempt to embroil him with members of the party who sometimes have not agreed with his policies. It's a maneuver the Democrats have tried often in the present campaign, in the hope of embittering a segment of Republican voters so they will stay at home on election day.

But it is a little odd to see Paul G. Hoffman, one of the President's closest friends, putting himself in a position where what he says can be used in such a maneuver in the middle of an election battle that depends for success on preserving the maximum amount of harmony in every state organization.

Mr. Hoffman, writing in Collier's, sought to describe the President as feeling that "those who are not with me are against me," and implied that Mr. Eisenhower would like to read certain senators out of the Republican party.

This is suggestive of the kind of "purge" technique FDR tried on Walter George of Georgia and that Harry Truman tried with respect to Democrats who did not go along with him in Congress. It never worked. People resented it at the polls.

WHEN MR. EISENHOWER was asked about the magazine article and whether he agreed that certain senators did not fit into the picture of a new Republican party, he answered:

"Now, let's remember that there are no national parties in the United States. There are 48 state parties. Then they are the ones that determine the people that belong to those parties. "There is nothing I can do to say that someone is not a Republican. The most I can say is that in many things they do not agree with me. Therefore, in looking for help to get over a program, which is the sole purpose of political leadership, as I see it, for the good of the country, I can't look to them for help. But we have to remember that these are state organizations and there is nothing that I can do to say so-and-so is a Republican and so-and-so is not a Republican."

The next question was whether the President, as Mr. Hoffman said in his article, was looking toward a conscientious senator like Sen. Knowland to bring over to the administration's side some other Republican senators referred to as "faint hopes."

Mr. Eisenhower answered with a smile:

"Well, look, the more people who agree with me, of course the wiser I think they are. And so I want as many Republicans as I can possibly get going down the line with me because time is short. You find out how short it is sometimes when you are trying to get these things done before the close of a session, and you need all the help you can get; and I am never going to stop trying."

THIS IS STATESMANSHIP in politics. For the American people resent the idea of a "rubber stamp" Congress.

Thus, when Sen. Lehman of New York, Democrat, was almost alone last year in voting against the resolution to give the President the power to use the armed forces to resist attack on Formosa he was not read out of the Democratic party by its leaders in the Senate. But if he had been a Republican, he would have been pilloried as an "isolationist" and as one who wasn't following the party line.

Mr. Hoffman writes of "the isolationist-fortress-America half of the Republican party" and says that in the fall of 1950 "the isolationist half of our leadership seemed about to smother the modern half of our party."

But Mr. Hoffman may have forgotten, or perhaps he never read what went on in Washington when he was travelling abroad so much those days as head of the Economic Cooperation Administration under President Truman.

The record shows that an overwhelming number of Republicans in the Senate under the leadership of Sen. Taft voted on July 21, 1949, to ratify the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which ended "isolation" for America by declaring that "an armed attack against any one or more of them (the signatory countries) shall be considered an attack on all."

There are differences of opinion within both parties in Congress on some phases of foreign policy today but these are largely as to the degree or extent that Uncle Sam would play Santa Claus with the American taxpayers' funds.

Again and again in past administrations, in recent years, men of principle have differed with the executive. These are not the days of Mark Hanna or Thaddeus Stevens when a party caucus compelled senators to surrender their honest convictions and vote the party line or be punished when up for reelection by state legislatures controlled by the party bosses.

These are the days of party primaries and of direct election of United States senators by the people.

THERE IS STILL a reactionary, if not a coercivist, school of thought in America which insists that conformity with a President's views on every question supercedes any responsibility a senator or representative may have to his own constituency.

Mr. Eisenhower has found as have other presidents in their first term—as indeed President Wilson in particular found out—that the conciliatory approach in conference with most opponents often leads to an adjustment of views on both sides.

Mr. Eisenhower, moreover, can count on substantial support from Democrats in Congress who, by voting for his proposals, as worked out this way, are still responding to the wishes of their constituents.

There is still a democracy and not a dictatorship in Washington.

When Black Is White

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of the macabre byproducts of an era in which politicians rewrite history and twist the record for their own convenience is corpse-shuffling.

An Associated Press picture showed Hungarian Communist big shots in Budapest looking solemn during a corpse-shuffle involving buddies who once crossed Uncle Joe Stalin and were murdered as their penalty.

The crowning touch was to bury their bullet-riddled bodies in unmarked graves.

Naturally, when the history of Uncle Joe's life and times was rewritten by a new crowd of politicians, after the old boy himself had been done in more or less ingloriously, changes had to be made.

The Hungarians had to dig up the corpses and rebury them with honors. It happens all the time when politicians are given the privilege of rewriting history.

A corpse never can be sure when some new shuffle of politics will set it whirling into or out of oblivion.

It is obvious that until something can be done to whittle down politicians who rewrite history there needs to be a working agreement about the disposition of "the bodies."

They are tangible assets in the symbolism that is vital to all governments and should be preserved more systematically than is now the case. The Russian success with the permanent pickling of Lenin so his visible remains can back up his preachments looks like the handy thing to do.

But there also should be a system of certification to keep the symbolism of corpse display from falling into confusion—some indelible seal like the kind used by inspectors to prove the politicians get the right body when the time comes again to change the record.

When they say a thing is so, they want to be sure no one can give them the lie, whether it's the mortal remains of some fellow whose turn to be a hero has come too late to give him pleasure, or the statement in a political campaign that black now is white, white is black, up is down and down is up.

Adolph Hitler To 'Die' Oct. 25

By LESLIE R. BAIN

Adolph Hitler will be pronounced dead here on Oct. 25 Heinrich Staphanus, the local judge here, will say so in a 1,500-word statement.

This will be used as the opening gun in a free-for-all race to find the German dictator's hidden treasures. Several groups of Hitler relatives believe that once the late fuhrer is proclaimed official dead they will be able to claim hitherto undisclosed riches. Others, including Judge Staphanus, aim to cash in as legal advisers.

The process of declaring Hitler dead was started by a Viennese lawyer, Herbert Eggstein, on behalf of the family of Count Czernin from whose gallery Hitler "borrowed and/or bought" a priceless painting by the Dutch master, Jan Vermeer.

As soon as Hitler is declared officially dead, the way would be cleared for many lawsuits concerning Hitler's estate.

There are dozens of claims in Vienna, Berlin, Munich and Berchtesgaden ready for the courts on behalf of victims of Hitler's mania for art treasures. Furthermore, it is known that Hitler deposited large sums of money in foreign, mostly Swiss, banks, which could not be attached while Hitler was legally still alive. A conservative estimate sets the number of court cases at 50. The filing of which will follow Judge Staphanus' official declaration.

THE DECLARATION on Hitler will be largely based on the findings of Dr. Specht, Bavarian criminologist, who reconstructed Hitler's suicide, although he discounted important parts of the testimony of three chief witnesses, Fritz Eckhman, Hitler's dentist, pilot Bauer, who flew for the fuhrer, and Hitler's valet, Linge. All were Russian prisoners until recently.

These three witnesses claimed to have handled Hitler's body and were responsible for burning the corpse outside the bunker in which Hitler committed suicide. Forty witnesses were examined by Dr. Specht before he reached the conclusion that the body which was found burned on April 30, 1945, outside the Reichschancellory in Berlin was that of Adolf Hitler, born Schickelgruber.

Besides Hitler's relatives, chief among them is his half-sister, Paula Wolff, who claims Hitler's Munich residence at 16 Prinzregentplatz, the Federal German Republic, the Austrian Republic, the State of Bavaria and the Austrian district of Oberoestreich have all entered claims against the Hitler estate.

The criminal division of the Munich police is holding a trunk full of Hitler's personal papers, paintings and other mementos which are expected to bring high prices from collectors, in view of the fact that at a recent auction $3,000 was offered for a 300-word Hitler manuscript.

THERE IS A PERSISTENT rumor in Vienna that unexpected heirs will show up to claim Hitler's estate. The object of their claim would be not for the purpose of acquiring any gained riches, but to throw light on his parentage.

A claim allegedly being prepared by two Viennese lawyers, who think that Hitler's parentage would throw light on his behavior, would disclose hitherto suppressed evidence that Hitler may have been an illegitimate child whose true father was a Jewish merchant in whose house Hitler's mother worked as housekeeper.

There is no reliable estimate of the value of the Hitler estate, chiefly because hidden deposits have not yet been found. But criminal investigators in Munich and Vienna claim several people are ready to disclose the whereabouts of most of Hitler's treasures—for a price.

It is known that valuable information concerning Hitler's foreign holdings was offered to Eva Braun's family, which claims that Hitler's last-minute marriage to Eva entitles them to a share of the loot, too.

If Europe Unites

By ERIC DOWNTON

OTTAWA The end of easy street in world trade is in sight for the almighty dollar.

So warn American and Canadian economic experts—both government officials and those employed by big business—confering here on western Europe's revolutionary moves to scrap tariff frontiers and merge into a huge economic area.

This, it is pointed out, comes at a time when the Soviet Union and its satellites also are edging into world trade, and when Japanese low-price competition is getting back into pre-war stride.

U.S. and Canadian exporters can look forward to a period of sharply stiffening competition, fewer favors and a no-holds-barred scrimmage for world markets.

U.S.-Canadian discussions were set off by the recent visit to Washington of the British chancellor of the exchequer, Harold MacMillan, and the board of trade president, Peter Thorneycroft.

These conferences brought home to North American experts as nothing had done before the repercussions to be expected from a vigorous western European economic union and the momentum it already has gathered.

AT MESSINA in Sicily, in June last year, six European states agreed to merge their economies. They are West Germany, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Netherlands and Italy.

Five months ago in Venice, the so-called "Messina group" adopted a general blueprint report mapping the union.

Last month in Brussels a draft treaty was produced for consideration by individual governments. Also, last month, other European government created a committee to examine the project and its implications, and Britain indicated she is considering joining the Messina group.

Combined populations of the Messina group total about 160,000,000, or roughly that of the U.S. But joint national incomes total only about 90 million or under one-third of America's.

Economic union would abolish tariffs and customs duties, create a huge common market, encourage pooling of resources, and increase productive efficiency. There would be no tariffs inside the zone, but a common tariff fence would surround it.

This would necessitate considerable revision in the operation of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), the International Monetary Fund, and other instruments of international commerce which have been supported and employed by Washington and Ottawa.

Manufactured products from North America will face stiffer competition. They will be restricted by dollar quotas imposed on importers by dollar-short governments. They will have to pay duty and meet competition from duty-free goods produced at lower wage rates.

Thorneycroft told Canadian officials the British government is definitely veering towards joining the Messina group. A strong factor is the fear that if Britain says out, the vigorous industrial capacity of Western Germany will dominate western European markets.

OFFICIAL ATTITUDES in Washington and Ottawa are that everything which encourages economic and political unity in Europe is a good thing. That a western Europe made stronger economically and more stable politically will in the long run offer a better market for North American products.

But this altruistic and politically inspired view is not shared by many industrialists, particularly those whose exports to Europe stand to suffer.

Concer in some sections of industry is heightened by the belief that exports will become increasingly important to North American commerce as productive efficiency improves and output reaches saturation point on the domestic market. Recent experiences in the automobile industry are quoted as examples of consumer-saturation.

For Canada, the problems raised by possible British adherence to the Messina group underline the dominion's historic dichotomy. While geographically in North America, Canada has powerful emotional, political and economic links with Britain and France. As the years go by it becomes increasingly complicated to maintain a foot on each side of the Atlantic.

The issue is a reminder that despite all the grandiloquence over the open border between the U.S. and Canada, Europe—finally overcoming its historic cleavages—is moving faster towards solution of its tariff and trade problems than the North American neighbors.

Once Over

See The World On Payment Plan

The low-cost, time payment, prepackaged sea and air European cruise is here. A big airline and ship company have adopted the plan on a 10 per cent down payment and 20 months to settle. The day when you abandoned the idea of a European trip because you didn't have the money is over. You can now see the world on the cuff.

It will be possible to do Paris, Venice and Naples with no more ready cash than it would take to do Hoboken, Cos Cob or Chillicothe. Once upon a time people said, "The Joneses must be rich; they go to Europe every year." Now they can say, "They've got 10 per cent of what they need so they're going abroad with the whole family."

You won't be able to tell the paid-up world tourist from the fellow who is arguing with the steward on the installment plan and has 20 months in which to own his seasickness outright.

ONLY YESTERDAY, people came home from a world tour broke. Now they can begin it on the same basis.

"Let's take a trip to the Near East," the wife said.

"Are we sufficiently short of ready money to do it?" he asked.

"I've read all the advertisements on time-payment traveling, and we have so little left that a tour seems the perfect answer," she persisted.

"But don't we still owe something on a Riviera trip? And aren't we quite a few payments behind on the Spanish junket?"

"Yes, but they're so nice about it." "There's been a strange man hanging around the street looking at house numbers. You don't think he could be somebody who wants to repossess our journeys do you?"

"It's too late for him to get Cairo and Madrid back. I'm sure the travel bureau will extend the time. These trips are so old now," she said.

"But, honey, we have to pay no matter how old a tour is."

"The Biseses have just been to Mexico and Montevideo and I'll bet they haven't come across since the down-payment. Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins are going to France again next week and they still owe for London, Vienna and Rome," said the missus. "I'd love to see Venice, Capri and Geneva. They're lovely installment-plan spots. Venice makes you forget you owe anything for your good time there."

"I should hope so. I'd hate to be in any lovely city in Europe, Asia or Africa and have to think of the 24 months before I would be all paid up on my fun."

"Let's get down to figures. How much dough have we?"

"Around $80 in cash. And of course we have the old fiftner, a used bicycle and a half a carton of cigarettes. How much of a trip could we get?"

"Baby, that means we are in a position to take a tour AROUND THE WORLD. I was afraid we couldn't afford it," she concluded.

'Alfalfa Bill' Murray Dies

Oklahoma Governor Sought Presidency

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, Oklahoma's ninth governor who campaigned unsuccessfully for the 1932 Democratic presidential nomination on a platform of "bread and butter, beans and bacon," died Monday.

The 86-year-old cigar-chewing pioneer, framer of the young state's constitution, died in a coma after a five-day battle against double pneumonia and the after-effects of a stroke.

At his bedside at death were two of his three sons, former Oklahoma Gov. Johnston Murray and Burbank Murray, Milwaukee, Wis.

Noted for his individuality—in both political and private life—the shaggy frank-spoken Murray faced all his adversaries with an iron determination.

During his four years in office, he called out the state National Guard on the average of every 45 days. He used the guard to force Texas to drop toll charges of a bridge between the two states.

He served as governor from 1931 to 1935, then made another try—his fourth—for the post in 1938, but ran afoul of President Franklin Roosevelt.

He won election to the U.S. House of Representatives for one term in 1914. After his 1938 defeat, Murray retired to write several books on government, politics and history.

Supreme Court Lets Stand Approval Of Union 'Harrassing'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday reversed itself and decided not to review a decision upholding the right of a union to engage in "harrassing tactics" during contract talks.

The effect of the reversal is to let the decision stand as a guidepost pending any new test of the issue although the National Labor Relations Board indicated it still disagrees with the ruling.

The decision was given by the U.S. Court of Appeals here and was appealed by the NLRB. The Supreme Court last April 2 announced it would hear arguments on the case this fall.

Today, however, the court vacated the April 2 announcement and the NLRB's request for a review was denied. The denial followed the filing of a memorandum by the board in which it said new facts in the case raised a possible question of mootness—that is whether a live issue still exists.

The appeals court decision overturned a board ruling that the CIO Textile Workers Union had not bargained in good faith with the Personal Products Co., which has a plant in Chicago. The board had found that the union's tactics included an organized refusal to work overtime, unauthorized extension of rest periods from 10 to 15 minutes direction of employees to refuse to work special hours, slowdowns, unannounced walkouts and inducing employees of a subcontractor not to work.

The Court of Appeals decided such tactics did not violate the National Labor Relations Act requirement that a union must bargain in good faith. The NLRB's appeal to the Supreme Court said this decision threatened to impair the process of collective bargaining that Congress intended to encourage and protect.

Meeting with six Cleveland milk handlers, Joe Brown, a Jefferson dairyman, declared: "The dairy farmer is going to have more money if he is to stay in business. He's going to get it or he's going to tie up the market, and I'll guarantee he can."

Brown said a similar get-acquainted meeting with the Canton milk handlers will be held Monday in Canton.

Adlai Defends H-Bomb Stand

Says Ike Passes Up Chance To End Threat

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says President Eisenhower is brushing aside a chance to end the "deadly deadlock" with Russia in a hydrogen bomb race that may destroy the world.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, defended in a nationally televised campaign speech from Chicago Monday night his proposal that America take the lead in efforts to end H-bomb tests which he said may do the human race "unmeasured damage."

Directly contradicting President Eisenhower on several points, Stevenson said that "most disturbing" to him was Eisenhower's comment at last week's White House news conference he had used the "last word" on his position that such tests cannot be abandoned because Russia might not honor any agreement to end them.

"We cannot brush the hydrogen bomb under the rug," Stevenson said.

He pledged that if he is elected president he would "count it about the first order of business" to get together with Russia and Britain on banning further explosions of nuclear superweapons.

Both Britain and Russia, he added, "have declared their willingness to us in trying to establish the kind of policy I have suggested."

Asserting that disarmament had been stalemated for 11 years because the Russians "will not agree to let us inspect them" and "we cannot agree to disarm unless we can inspect them," Stevenson declared:

"Yet if we are going to make any progress we must find means of breaking out of this deadly deadlock. We must come forward with proposals which will bear witness to our desire to move forward and not away from disarmament."

Stevenson brought in Chairman Clinton Anderson (D-NM) of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee to back his view that it was feasible and wise to halt nuclear test.

He summoned Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), chairman of a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee, to testify in support of his contention that no harm would result to America's defenses by such a move. Stevenson said Eisenhower had implied "his proposal would somehow reduce or curtail power to defend ourselves," adding, "It would not."

Gas Forces Evacuation Of 25 Families

GREENWICH, Ohio (AP)—A fog of escaping butane gas caused the evacuation of 25 farm families from an area half a mile west of this Huron County village early today.

Police said there apparently was an underground break in a pipeline operated by Standard Oil Co. (Ohio). The line sometimes is used for gasoline, but at present contains butane, a liquid which becomes a gas when it comes in contact with air.

Fearing an explosion, authorities summoned firemen, state highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies.

Auto traffic on U. S. 224 was routed away from the affected area. The New York Central Railroad held two of its trains at Galion. The Baltimore & Ohio and the Akron, Canton & Youngstown also were notified to stop traffic for the time being.

Evacuation of the area began about 2 a.m. (EST). The Red Cross chairman for Huron County, Christine Needham, dispatched the county disaster chairman, William Johnson, from Norwalk, to arrange for housing and food for the families.

Greenwich has a population of more than 1,200.

The butane was being pumped from Sohio's No. 1 refinery in Cleveland to a number of Sohio refineries in Toledo, where it is blended with other elements to form aviation gasoline and other products.

A Sohio spokesman in Cleveland said a pumping station in Fostoria, west of the break, had pumped oil into the line as far as Mogadore in Summit County to the east, thereby clearing the highly volatile butane out of the affected portion of the line.

"Sudd" is a mass vegetable obstruction of plants and grass which form peaty blocks. These sometimes block navigation in the Nile River.

Eisenhower

has been put over until midday Saturday.

Eisenhower's decision to campaign in heavily populated southern California points up to the hot battle being waged between Republicans and Democrats for the state's 32 electoral votes. The President won California, handily in 1952 against Adlai Stevenson, but there are signs of a closer contest this year.

In another campaign activity Monday night, Eisenhower made a telecast appeal for public attention to a series of statements on what he called the "accomplishments of this Republican administration."

"Proud of Record"
"I am proud of the record . . . he said. "I for one—will be happy to rest our case on your honest judgment."

Eisenhower's filmed remarks, presented twice Monday night, were scheduled to be telecast again tonight.

The time: 7:55 p.m., EDT. Over the next three weeks there will be similar short filmed appearances by Eisenhower Cabinet officers. In all, 33 such five-minute talks were planned.

Meanwhile White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen that Eisenhower may not have meant it to be quite so final as it sounded when he said last Thursday that he had uttered his "last word" regarding Stevenson's proposals that (1) thought be given to ending the military draft "in the foreseeable future" and that (2) effort be made to halt H-bomb testing. The President had been sharply critical of both Stevenson suggestions.

Hagerty had no immediate comment on Stevenson's renewed demands Monday night that steps be taken to terminate H-bomb testing and the draft.

"The resident's hope was that those matters would not become the subject of partisan political debate. However, I am sure that if misstatements are made, particularly in connection with testing, the President will feel he has a duty to keep the record straight."

The school levies, all for current expenses, are:

East Palestine, renewal of 1.7-mill and 8-mill, both for five years; Salem, renewal of 4.5-mill five years; Beaver Local, renewal of 8-mills, 5 years; Lisbon, additional 8-mills, 5 yrs, Franklin Local, renewal of 3-mills, 5 years; Wayne Local, renewal of 3-mills and 2-mills, both for five years; West Local, renewal of 1-mill and increase of 5-mills, constituting a 6-mill tax, for five years; Negley Local, renewal of 1-mill five years, and Fairfield-Waterford, 2.20-mill renewal, 5 years.

All the city, village and township levy proposals require a 55 per cent affirmative vote except those in East Liverpool, Rogers, Salem, Butler Township and the .80-mill levy in Perry Township fire district, as they are for five years.

Only a bare majority is required for approval of any of the school levies. The Lisbon initiative ordinance also requires only a bare majority for approval.

Korean Bonus Up For Vote
Every county voter will have a voice on the two statewide proposals, which call for a $90,000,000 bond issue to pay a bonus of up to $400 to Ohioans who served in the Korean War and an extension of the terms of state senators from the present two years to four years.

Plane

Pilot Richard Ogg had circled the big plane over the Pontchartrain, a Coast Guard weather ship for more than three hours before alighting on the ocean.

Trouble With 2 Engines
Trouble with two of the plane's four engines caused the mishap. From San Francisco a seaplane arranged to leave with a rescue doctor aboard. The Coast Guard said it would take the plane about six hours to reach the scene.

Pilot Ogg had awaited for daylight to set his plane down on a rather quiet sea.

Aboard were 24 passengers and seven members of the crew, Pan American said.

One engine of the four-engine plane was dead and the propeller on another was not functioning properly, Pan American said.

Below was Ocean Station November, a Coast Guard weather station ship approximately half-way between San Francisco and Honolulu at 30 degrees north and 140 degrees west.

Pan American said the plane had left from the Orient Oct. 13. Its last stop was Honolulu which it left at 11:30 p.m. CST Monday night. It was due in San Francisco at 7 a.m. (10 a.m. EST).

Of the plane passengers 15 were men, 6 were women and 3 were children, Pan American said. It did not give the names.

The pilot was Richard Ogg. Other crew members were: 1st Officer G. L. Haaker, 2nd Officer Richard L. Brown, Engineer Frank Garcia, Purser Patricia Reynolds, Stewardesses Mary A. Daniel and Katherine Araki.

Coast Guard headquarters at San Francisco said weather station November is manned by the 255-foot cutter Pontchartrain.

Ships Hurry To Scene
The Navy's Western Sea Defense Command at San Francisco directed the carrier Bennington and the destroyer escort Vampan to the scene as well as two other ships, the Frank Petracca and the Johnson. All were reported "in the area" but no definite locations were given.

At Honolulu, a Pan American spokesman said pilot Richard Ogg reported one outboard engine "ran away" and he was unable to control it. After he had turned back toward Honolulu, Pan American continued, he lost control of his other outboard engine.

Dawn in that area comes at about 9:30 a.m. CST.

The Coast Guard said there were swells in the water of from three to five feet and the weather was good for ditching.

Coast Guard and Air Force planes were sent to the scene from Hawaii. One was a P45, a converted B24, and other was a C54. Both were land planes equipped to drop rafts and rubber boats.

The plane has life jackets for each passenger and three 20-man life rafts.

the "saucers" have ever given adequate enough descriptions for scientific study.

Dr. Levitt attributed the "saucers" which people have seen to reflections of light which render a saucer-like effect to the naked eye.

As to whether a form of a life could be sustained on any of the planets, Dr. Levitt said such a condition would be doubtful, although on the planet, Venus, perhaps, conditions may be somewhat identical to earth conditions.

Moon Visit In 1980, Maybe
A "time schedule" of events leading up to the actual invasion of planets from the earth was outlined by Dr. Levitt. He said, for example, that the moon probably would not be visited until 1980.

Before any such plans for travel take place, he said, much testing of animals and humans must be executed as to what conditions they will be able to stand and so on.

Such difficulties in preparing for space travel caused Dr. Levitt to emphasize that interplanetary journeys will be far in the future.

Unless the discovery or development of an advanced type of fuel would occur, Dr. Levitt said that his schedule could not be "speeded up," in answer to a query during the question-answer session.

The Hamilton Space Clock invented by the speaker was briefly discussed as an aid in charting journeys to Mars.

President Eisenhower or Adlai Stevenson.

"But I do know it wouldn't make any difference which of the two old parties won because we would have a continuation of socialist government in either case," he said.

Attack Both Parties
Andrews, Wendel and other speakers — notably Clarence E. Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame Law School and co-chairman of the National Andrews-Wendel Committee—received frequent cheers with their sharply worded attacks on Democrats and Republicans alike.

Demands for the federal government to leave the states free to operate their schools as they saw fit won the loudest applause and the heaviest boos went to Chief Justice Earl Warren. Andrews referred to Warren as "the great Republican chief justice and integrationist, Earl Warren."

Andrews said it was absurd to say nothing could be done about the income tax or that the country needed a 70-billion-dollar budget.

Andrews resigned from the Eisenhower administration last year to become President of an insurance firm.

continued aid to Yugoslavia was in the interest of national security.

Await Tito's Report
Diplomatic officials, commenting on the White House ruling, said it served notice on Tito to hurry up with a first-hand report to American officials on his somewhat mysterious diplomatic maneuverings in Eastern Europe during the past month.

The most important explanation sought, they agreed, involves two weeks of secret talks Tito held with Soviet Communist chief Nikita Khrushchev and other Russian bosses.

Since Tito returned to Belgrade 11 days ago, American Ambassador James Riddleberger has tried without success to arrange a meeting with him to discuss the Yugoslav-Russian talks and other developments in the Communist world.

Eisenhower told Congress: "The balance of available evidence leads me to find that Yugoslavia remains independent of control by the Soviet Union and desires to continue to be independent."

ting up a straw man when he concentrated his campaign fire for a time on Nixon, and when he referred to the vice president as the "annointed heir" of Republican party leadership.

Will Support Party Choice
Nixon said he is concerned with doing a good job as vice president and supporting for president in the 1960 election a choice of the Republican party. It has plenty of good men, he said. And under questioning at a news conference, he said Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Harold Stassen should be listed among these. Stassen is the presidential disarmament advisor who tried to knock Nixon out of the vice presidential nomination in favor of Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

On his Ohio swing, Nixon worked diligently for Republican senatorial and congressional candidates. Of Sen. George H. Bender, running for reelection against Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Nixon said Republicans could be sure of his vote to organize the Senate. Nixon said this is important so that Eisenhower measures will not be bottled up in committees headed by Democrats.

A reporter told Nixon there are indications Lausche, a Democrat who at times has shown little regard for party lines, might vote with the Republicans to organize the Senate.

Nixon said that he would rather have what he called Bender's "sure" vote than Lausche's "might" vote.

County Health Dept. Workers Seek Raise

LISBON — Nurses and clerks of the Columbiana County Health Department Monday asked the County Health Board for a cost of living raise, citing that other departments in the county house received one. The board said that they would study the matter.

Mrs. W. R. Fuhrman of the East Fairfield-Lisbon Road talked to the board on mental health and asked if the county board would be interested in having her speak on the subject at different clubs, churches, granges and other meetings with the board reimbursing her for her time. The board also took this under advisement.

The county nurses, Mrs. Violet Peterson of East Palestine and Mrs. Mary A. Rumberger of Wells-ville, reported to the board on the state health commissioners convention which they attended in Columbus two weeks ago.

The county health nurses will help give polio shots at county schools. They will assist the doctors and school nurse in each school holding a polio clinic for its pupils.

Two new applicants for the county health commissioner's position were discussed and the board will go to Massillon Wednesday afternoon to talk with one applicant.

Two nuisance complaints and the procedure to follow in order to correct them were discussed.

The next county board meeting will be held Nov. 19.

WITH SPEED TO BURN

HIGH-BALLING ALONG toward new speed records are the trains of three nations, France, Italy and the United States. One of the American contenders is the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, whose Zephyrs average 84.4 miles an hour from Prairie du Chien to La Crosse, Wis. Fastest short run on record, however, belongs to old Pennsylvania's Special, which raced 127.06 on a three-mile run in 1905. The world's fastest stop-to-stop run was a 102-mph average from Florence to Milan, Italy, with top speeds up to 126. The French hold the current speed champ, an electric locomotive which touches 107 mph on runs from Paris to Lyon. What is the slowest "name" train in the world? It's the "Main Line Express" from Hobart to Launceston, Tasmania. Average is 26.6 mph on that run.

Chicago & Northwestern swings out of Chicago on 400-mile run to Minneapolis.

No beauty contest winner, this French locomotive rates as the fastest in world.

Union Pacific "City" trains hit 80 miles an hour in spots across Great Plains.

Canton McKinley Again Rated Ohio's No. 1 High School Team

Massillon Tigers Still In Second

East Palestine Nears Top Ten

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Canton McKinley's high scoring and defensively stubborn Bulldogs figure to stay atop the Associated Press high school football poll—a spot they've occupied all season—at least another week.

The state champions ran their victory string to 15, five this year, with a 34-0 romp over Toledo Waite Saturday. In the week's poll, 53 sports writers—31 from newspapers and 22 from radio-television stations—voted them right back to the top with a rousing 427 poll points to 346 for second place Massillon.

McKinley takes on Steubenville's Big Red Friday night—but that once highly-rated opponent is having a slack season. The Big Red defeated Follansbee, W. Va., 20-6 last Friday for its first win in five starts, but the defeat was the sixth straight for Follansbee.

Toledo Libbey, Toledo Devilbiss and Cleveland Benedictine dropped from the top 10 after weekend losses, with Lorain, Parma and Mansfield taking over the last three spots in that order.

Back of the two leaders were Fremont Ross with 15 in a row, East Cleveland Shaw, Cleveland St. Ignatius, Youngstown Ursuline and Troy.

Thus the ratings were dominated by nine northern teams, only Troy from the rebel country being able to break into the elite list.

From here and there:

Bobby Ferguson of Troy scored only one touchdown last week, but it was one of the big ones in a fine career. It was his 19th in five games, but it helped whip Dayton Fairmont 7-6—the latter's first loss—and it kept his team in the top 10 with 14 straight conquests.

In the poll, little Rutland has eight points—equivalent to a single third-place vote, but the club has rolled over five straight foes by scoring 237 points to none for the foe. Jim Cremins has scored 17 touchdowns for Rutland.

Bill Clark of Youngstown East scored five touchdowns, one on a 54-yard punt return, last weekend—and Van Wert racked up its 23rd straight victory by beating Bellefontaine 26-6.

It has been a long time since Massillon, seven-time state champ before McKinley took over last fall, has trail by 12 points. But the Tigertown team was two touchdowns behind Cleveland Benedictine at the end of two minutes last Friday. George Sefcik, Benedictine halfback, scored the opening kickoff back 85 yards to score. Then, on the first Massillon play, Benedictine intercepted a pass—after which Paul Hrisko tossed 43 yards to end Gary Hansley for a second touchdown. Massillon struck right back for four, and finally won it 27-18 for Coach Lee Tressel's 39th straight win—34 at Mentor and five at Massillon.

Massillon plays at Mansfield this Friday night, and a 14,000 turnout is expected. The two teams battled to a 12-12 tie a year ago, with Massillon scoring in the last few seconds to gain a deadlock.

Jim Lindner of East Palestine has 15 touchdowns in five straight wins, and has booted five extra points. He has nine scores in the last two tilts, four against Lisbon and five against Salem. After Youngstown Ursuline defeated Alliance 21-7, the talk around Alliance was that Ursuline could "take" Massillon. Tony Caluchia of Ursuline, with nine TD's, has scored in every game.

And some of the boys figure either Lorain or Toledo Scott will trip Fremont Ross to wreck the latter's imposing strings of wins.

After the second half kickoff against Elyria Friday, Marion Harding was penalized to its one-yard line for clipping. Three plays later, Marion had the ball 99 yards away with a touchdown. A three-yard plunge moved it to the four, a pass was incomplete, then Gary Williams went up the middle for 96 yards and the score. Marion won it 26-20.

Lancaster halfback Rich Bradford stormed for four touchdowns and had a 93-yarder nullified by a penalty as Dover was defeated 31-7. The spree boosted Bradford's touchdown total to 14, and he's booted seven conversions in five wins for a 91-point total. Lancaster (5-0) meets Zanesville (4-1) this week, with the Central Ohio League title riding on the outcome. Each is 3-0 in the loop. Against Dover, Lancaster quarterback Mike Noll completed 6 of 8 passes for 143 yards.

Down at Oxford several schools consolidated to form class A Talamanda, now in its first season of competition. The school, under Coach John Trump, formerly of now-defunct Oxford Stewart, has won five in a row and clinched the Little Southwestern League title.

When Lima St. Rose and Lima St. John merged into Lima Central Catholic this fall, a half-dozen St. John boys who had never played football—but were adept at basketball—turned out. Among them were cousins Tom and Jim Bruin, and Carl Helmig. Coach Milan Stanich put them at end, and they have caught 20 passes, four for touchdowns, to help the team average 34.6 points for the campaign.

Marietta's lights were wrecked by a Sept. 23 storm, and the Marietta Times launched a fund-raising campaign to replace them. The money was raised, volunteer union labor installed the new system, and it was dedicated Friday night. Five players returned in touchdowns to defeat Chillicothe 33-7, giving the Tigers a 3-2 record for the season. But the two defeats were by a total of four points—two conversions and a safety—so Coach Tony Vare, who replaced the late Fred Pierson, is looking for better things.

The week's schedule for the top 10: Canton McKinley (1) at Steubenville; Massillon (2); at Mansfield (10); Fremont Ross (3) at Elyria; East Cleveland Shaw (4) vs. Cleveland Heights; Cleveland St. Ignatius (5) vs. Cleveland Rhodes (Saturday); Youngstown Ursuline (6) vs. Youngstown Chaney (Saturday); Troy (7) vs. Miamiburg Lorain (8) vs. Sandusky, and Parma (9) vs. Euclid.

United Local Frosh Defeat Sandy Valley

The United Local freshmen football team edged out a victory over the freshmen of Sandy Valley, 6-0, in a game played at Sandy Valley, yesterday afternoon.

Through the first three quarters both teams were unable to move the ball, as most of the playing was done around midfield.

In the fourth stanza United Local moved 60 yards for the only score of the game. Some nice runs and two completed passes to Gary Lindersmith set the stage, and Bill Taylor caught Lester Blanchard's pass in the end zone for the tally.

Floyd Patterson, Moore Bout Set

To Meet For Title In Chicago Nov. 30

CHICAGO (U)—Young Floyd Patterson and old Archie Moore will meet in Chicago Stadium Nov. 30 for the heavyweight title vacated by Rocky Marciano.

The International Boxing Club Monday announced plans for the fight but said financial arrangements for the 15-round bout will be ironed out in a formal ceremony in Chicago next week.

Jim Norris president of the IBC said in New York that negotiations on home television and theater television were underway. The fact that the fight will be on a Friday—one of the two days a week the IBC broadcasts and telecasts network fights—was taken as indication that there will be home television.

Both fighters have already started training the IBC said with Patterson at Greenwood Lake N.Y. and Moore at Lakeside Calif. Both have agreed to be in Chicago three weeks before the fight to complete their training.

Originally the contest had been planned for Yankee Stadium late last month but Patterson suffered a broken hand while beating Hurricane Jackson in an elimination bout last June and wasn't ready for the September meeting.

Moore was knocked out in 11 rounds by Marciano in a title bout at New York in September of last year. Immediately after Rocky retired Moore campaigned unsuccessfully to have himself named heavyweight champion of the world.

Patterson, former middleweight Olympic champion, is 22. Moore has been 39 for several years.

Orioles Sign Richards Again; To Hire Aide

BALTIMORE (U)—The Baltimore Orioles have given Paul Richards an extended leave on the driver's seat, but they plan to get him a co-pilot.

The club directors huddled with Richards Monday and then announced his contract as "manager-general manager" had been extended two years, through the 1959 season.

"We feel that this action reaffirms the board's unanimous confidence in Mr. Richards and expresses our full satisfaction in the demonstrated growth of the Orioles under his direction."

As for the co-pilot, they said "... We hope in the near future to engage the services of an able executive to act as executive vice president. In such capacity he will work jointly with the president and the board and Mr. Richards."

"His duties will be to direct and coordinate all administrative and executive affairs in the front office."

President James Keelty said the contract extension calls for a continuation of Richards' present salary reported to be $40,000 to $45,000 a year.

Richards was hired two years ago after the Orioles—in their first year in Baltimore—had finished in the American League cellar under Jimmy Dykes. The former Chicago White Sox manager got them to seventh place in 1955 and sixth this year.

Salem will be playing Wellsville for the 46th time in a grid rivalry dating back to 1905. Salem has won 36 of these encounters, while Wellsville was the victor eight times, and another game ended in a tie. The Quakers have recorded 13 victories in a row over Wellsville dating back to 1943.

The Salem squad will try to even their record when they battle the Bengals, who have lost four of their five games. The Salem team has scored two wins while losing three.

Assistant Coach John Cabas reported that the Wellsville squad has plenty of beef on the forward wall, and that they have a speedy backfield. If the Salem squad enters the fray in the same manner they did against East Palestine in which they were trounced 41-6, Wellsville could easily beat Salem.

In last week's game against the Bulldogs, the Quakers seemed never to get started, as the East Palestine eleven bounced all over them right from the start. Coach Hogan summed it up when he said "We got the jump on the Quakers."

Bob Howard, Salem halfback who received a head concussion in the game with East Palestine, will be out the rest of the season. He is expected to return home from the hospital sometime today.

Hayes Warns Penn State To Be Tough

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Ohio State's football clash with Penn State here Saturday will be only the second game between the two teams—the first, back in 1912, having resulted in a 1-0 forfeit by the Buckeyes.

Monday, Coach Woody Hayes told sports writers his Bucks would face a terrific problem if they underestimated Penn State. "The Lions would be a good Big Ten team," he said. "Nine of the 11 starters are seniors, and we'll be facing the best defensive team we've run into this year."

Some facts and figures give support to Hayes' contention. In their 34-0 conquest over Pennsylvania, the Lions gave up only two first downs, and in mauling Holy Cross 43-0, gave up just three first downs.

But there's a catch to it all. Pennsylvania it should be remembered, hasn't won a game since way back; Holy Cross just two weeks ago was dumped by Dayton; and Army, although defeating the Lions 14-7, was smothered 48-13 by Michigan.

Penn State's scoring record of 84-14 compares with the Buckeyes' 92-13.

Nevertheless, Hayes and his scouts tried valiantly, but without much success, to impress sports writers that the Buckeyes will meet a formidable foe Saturday. Hayes said head injuries suffered by starting ends Fred Kriss and Leo Brown may bring about some personnel changes. They were hurt in last Saturday's game with Illinois which the Buckeyes won 26-6.

Hayes said there's a chance Bill Michael will be moved from tackle to one of the end spots and that Hubert Bobo will not start at end as previously planned but will go into the backfield.

Sooners Retain No. 1 Rating

Michigan State Gains On Oklahoma

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's still Oklahoma No. 1 in college football but the Sooners, unmatched record and all, may find themselves lagging at the polls in a few days simply because their chief rival, Michigan State, gets first crack at Notre Dame.

Michigan State, getting its support from those who place schedule over statistics, pulled up to within 25 points of Oklahoma in the weekly Associated Press poll. Sports writers and sportscasters despite the Sooners' winning streak of 33 games.

For Michigan State, a 53-6 winner over Indiana, the result of the new balloting was a gain of 95 points on Oklahoma, which whitewashed Texas 45-0 after thrashing Kansas of North Carolina and Kansas State.

The Spartans' showing this Saturday against sub-par but always-respected Notre Dame might do it. Oklahoma has Kansas coming up next before getting its shot at Notre Dame Oct. 7. Even an Oklahoma romp over Kansas, beaten twice and tied once in four games, might not be expected to carry the weight of a Michigan State victory over the Irish.

In the total standings, with points awarded on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc., Oklahoma led with 1,173 to 1,148 for Michigan State. Between them, they drew 112 of 131 first-place ballots, 67 for the Sooners. Only one major change turned up in the weekly accounting, Michigan moving back into the top 10 at the No. 8 position after routing Army 48-14. Texas A&M gave way, dropping from ninth to 14th.

Georgia Tech held on to third and Texas Christian remained in the fourth. The rest of the lineup was Ohio State, Mississippi, Tennessee, Michigan, Southern California and Baylor.

Notre Dame, beaten twice in three starts, dropped out of even the second ten in the listings after losing to Purdue 28-14. Any other victory, a victory over the Irish this early in the season would have assured the winner a high rating. But Purdue, now 2-1, climbed only to 17th.

The top 10 with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. Oklahoma (67)	1,173

Brown Says Team With 4 Losses May Take Title

CLEVELAND (U)—Coach Paul Brown, whose championship football team has dropped two out of three starts this season, says that a team with four losses might win the Eastern Division title this year.

"I believe a record of eight victories and four defeats will do it," said the coach of the Cleveland Browns, winners last year of the National Football League crown. "This division probably is better balanced than it's ever been."

The Browns are preparing for their next contest with Washington, which has dropped all three of its games this year.

James Bass was recently married to Marie Fish in North Carolina. But, a good fish story was spoiled because neither came from a fishing family. Bass' father was an electrician and Miss Fish's father was a farmer.

Says Loop May Become Farm System For Pros

Big 10 Report Blasts Athletic Aid Program

CHICAGO (U)—In a frank and self-critical report which was meant to be secret within the Big Ten, a special conference committee ripped into athletic aid practices with a warning that the Western Conference (Big Ten) could someday become a farm system for professional sports.

The report, disclosed yesterday, was drafted by a committee set up last December and headed by Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson. It called the "work-aid program for athletes an invitation to hypocrisy and deceit."

It added that financial help to athletes had reached "staggering proportions."

The two-part, 24-page report—half dealing with "facts" and half with opinions of the committee, was put together by Wilson; assistant commissioner Bill Reed; Michigan Athletic Director Fritz Crisler; Wisconsin Athletic Director Ivy Williamson; and faculty representatives, Leslie W. Scott of Michigan State and Verne C. Freeman of Purdue.

Wilson warned against misapprehension of the report saying it "could easily be misunderstood without appreciation of its purpose and background."

He said the report was intended solely for private distribution within the Big Ten and its general release had been decided upon because of the proposed publication of a paraphrase in a national magazine.

Under the "facts" section, the report criticized the "offer" system and runs right on through recruiting and subsidization.

"Each conference school," the report states, "is on a definite 'offer' basis, meaning that the recruitment activity . . . is accompanied by financial assistance (promised work and/or scholarships)."

"The scope of financial subsidies to conference athletes, earned and unearned (scholarships), has increased in staggering proportions in the past decade x x x from $47 in 1948 to $260 in 1955 (average amount of aid per athlete). . . ."

"The work-aid program has developed purposefully as a subsidization device under the 'offer' system and limitations upon unearned aid. As such it is an invitation to hypocrisy and deceit unless there is complete insistence upon full work for compensation received, and there is not."

The report goes into detail concerning recruiting practices in which athletes actually are shopping in their campus visits.

Also coming under criticism was reliance upon alumni to establish contacts and arrange campus visits for athletes. The report said entertainment of prospective athletes for the current year averages nearly $5,000 running as high as $13,600.

And this in part is the committee's opinion of what might come about if the aforementioned practices are not curtailed.

"The Big Ten may well form a functional arrangement in the nature of a farm system with organized professional sports."

"The distinction between intercollegiate sports and professional sports will become so invisible that public support will shift to the latter because its caliber of competition and spectacle does not suffer from even the limited inhibitions upon intercollegiate sports, and the resulting financial chaos will force abandonment of the intercollegiate program."

In his comments on the report, Wilson called the "offer system" the core of athletic problems.

"The system," he said, "is today universal and involves intense recruitment of prospective athletes accompanied by promises of financial assistance. The assistance may be entirely legal, but the competition for prospects which goes with the offer system also creates pressures for improper aid."

Wilson said Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors endorsed in principle a change in financial aid regulations to be voted upon in legislative form at the conference's next meeting in December.

Wilson said the report is preliminary.

marily an effort to analyze trends.

"The report does not allege violations of existing rules," Wilson said. "It is candid in commenting on practices which are rightfully a cause of concern to all college people, but in general our findings are nowhere near as sordid as the public has believed them to be."

"As self-criticism, the report is concerned with the Big Ten alone, but it would be unfortunate if it were thought the problems and practices reported are peculiar to the Big Ten."

Hawaii Red Sox Knock Newcombe Out Of Box

HONOLULU (U)—Brooklyn's Don Newcombe had no better luck Monday night against the Hawaii Red Sox than he did against the New York Yankees.

The semipro Red Sox collected three runs against him on a double a single and a homer in the second inning of a game they lost to the Dodgers, 7-3, in 10 innings.

Newcombe left the game trailing after four innings. Roger Craig and Ed Roebuck finished, allowing no hits. The Yankees drove Newcombe from the mound twice in the World Series.

Brooklyn beat the Red Sox four unearned runs in the 10th. The Dodgers outthrew the Hawaiian club, 14-3.

CARS ARE MY LINE

by Al Parker

HOW'S YOUR MILEAGE?

When car owners get together the first subject is usually, "What kind of mileage are you getting out of that bus of yours?"

Some cars, of course, use more gas than others, and give more power and smoothness in return, but the way you drive can have a lot to do with the miles-per-gallon you chalk up.

Highway driving gives better mileage than city driving, but it's not the higher speed that makes the gas go further. The car that gives 20 miles to the gallon at 30 miles an hour will give only 15 miles to the gallon at 60, and 13 miles to the gallon at 70.

It is, of course, the stops and starts of city driving that waste gas. Ten stops in a mile will use twice as much as steady driving at 30.

Under-inflated tires, even if they don't appear soft, can increase gas consumption 5 to 8 per cent.

Nervously pushing the accelerator up and down while waiting for a light to change wastes nearly a teaspoonful of gas with each push. Letting the car sit with the engine running can be more wasteful than you'd think. An idling engine can use up to a pint of fuel an hour.

Good care is important, but first of all it takes a good car. Even if you're just looking around, we'd like to help you see what's what with cars today. Motoring can be a lot of fun, instead of a lot of worry, in these wonderful months.

Who made the world's most elegant car? We don't know for sure, but a car we'll tell you about next week must come close to capturing that title.

Bulldogs League Leaders At Season's Halfway Mark

By MARK MILLER

Tri-County League football teams passed the half way mark for the 1956 season last weekend with the undefeated East Palestine Bulldogs remaining in first place in the league standings.

The Palestine squad has rolled over five straight opponents. The Bulldogs edged Leetonia 7-6, crushed Sebring, Newton Falls and Lisbon, in that order, 46-6, 25-0, and 34-0. On Friday night they continued their winning ways by smashing the Salem Quakers 41-6.

John Lindner, fullback for the Bulldogs, has scored in every game, accumulating 16 touchdowns and six extra points for a total of 104 points. Lindner has scored nine TD's in his last two games.

THE BULLDOGS will entertain the Minerva squad at East Palestine Friday at 7:45. Minerva lost last week to Carrollton gridgers who have won 19 in a row. Minerva's record for the season is two wins and three losses.

The game of the week in Tri-County League play should be the Leetonia-Poland fray at Leetonia Friday night.

The teams are tied for second place in league standings, each having won four and losing one. Leetonia lost to East Palestine 7-6, and since then has won four in a row. The Beavers have trounced Louisville, Minerva, and Columbiana by scores of 21-0, 28-0 and 21-0, respectively. They also won a real thriller from Goshen 13-7.

Poland lost in an upset to Columbiana 7-6, but has won over

Newton Falls, 6-0; Lisbon, 20-0; Sebring, 33-12; and Louisville, 26-0.

BOB PEET, BEARS' right half back, has scored in every game so far this season. He tallied four TD's in his team's victory over Columbiana last week.

Lisbon, without the services of halfback Bill Minton, who was sidelined for the season after sustaining a concussion, will play Louisville Friday at Louisville. Lisbon crushed Sebring 33-7 Friday night. Louisville's record is two wins and three losses. Lisbon has won two, lost two and tied in another contest.

Sebring will battle Columbiana at Sebring Friday night. Columbiana was admitted to the league this year, but the Clippers record will not count, because they won't play enough league games this season. Next year they will have a complete league schedule.

The Columbiana season record going into Friday night's game is two victories and three losses. Sebring has yet to win a game, having lost all five encounters so far this year.

Football Briefs

CHICAGO (U)—Midwest football briefs:

Iowa—Three triumphs in a row including two over conference foes earned the Hawkeyes a day off. Coach Forest Evashevski says he still isn't satisfied with his offense.

Ohio State—Coach Woody Hayes had his Buckeyes take it easy after their 26-6 victory over Illinois. Hayes said the team came out of the game in good shape except for bumps and bruises and a tired feeling.

Michigan State—End Dave Kaiser is a doubtful starter against Notre Dame Saturday because of a leg injury. Halfback Walt Kowalczyk suffered a leg cramp but will be ready for the Irish.

Michigan—The Wolverines studied scouting reports of Northwestern, their next opponent. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan introduced several new plays for the Wildcats.

Northwestern—More offense is what the Wildcats are seeking and that'll be their major task this week. Coach Ara Parseghian was pleased with his club's effort in tying Minnesota.

Illinois—Sophomore Tom Haller has replaced senior Hiles Stout as Illinois' No. 1 quarterback. Fullback Ray Nitschke also moved up to the first team.

Minnesota—Apparently having learned their lesson, the Gophers displayed a lot of spirit in practice. Spirit was missing in work-outs leading to the Northwestern game which ended in a scoreless tie.

Wisconsin—The Badgers pounded through a long, hard practice. Fundamentals and work on pass offense took up most of the day.

Purdue—Passing and pass defense was the Purdue order of the day. The Boilermakers might have to play without halfbacks Ken Mikes and Erich Barnes. Both suffered leg injuries against Notre Dame.

Indiana—Six Hoosiers were hobbling because of injuries suffered in the Michigan State game. Light workouts are all Indiana will have in preparing for Nebraska.

Notre Dame—The Irish went through a long scrimmage in opening preparations for Michigan State. Coach Terry Brennan was disappointed in his team's showing against Purdue.

Marquette—Halfback Mike Bamsley suffered a slight concussion against Boston College and may miss the homecoming game with College of the Pacific.

Mike Fetchick Wins $5,000 Western Open

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—"That was the toughest round of golf I ever played," said 205-pound Mike Fetchick after decisively winning the $5,000 top prize in the Western Open Tournament in a playoff with three other pros.

"I didn't tie up, but I have to admit there was a little butterfly in my stomach," he declared Monday after shooting a 6-under-par 66, five strokes better than any of his opponents. "I've had lower scores, but no round was ever harder."

Second place—just a matter of prestige since the three others all received $2,000—went to Jay Hebert, 33, from Lafayette, La., representing Sanford, Fla. He carded a 71.

Next came Doug Ford, playing out of Fetchick's home town of Yonkers, N.Y., with a 72. Don January, the 26-year-old corner from Lampasas, Tex., finished with a 75 over the 6,496-yard Presidio course.

Fetchick fired seven birdies and went over par on only one hole, the eighth, when he seemed to baby an approach from the tall grass on the fringe of the green. His longest birdie putt was 25 feet.

Headon Collision Kills 4 Men In Washington

OAK HARBOR, Wash. (U)—The headon collision of two cars three and one-half miles south of here Monday night claimed the lives of four men, including three Navy personnel stationed at Whidbey Island Naval Air Station.

The three Navy men were identified as James S. Jacobson, 24, St. Paul, Minn.; Benjamin W. Lyons, 23, Erie, Pa.; Kenneth L. Kwader, 24, Baltimore, Md.

The fourth victim was William J. Taylor, 50, of Oak Harbor, a retired Navy man.

Brown's Radio Idea Backfires On Him

NEW YORK (U)—Cleveland coach Paul Brown must rue the day he came up with the idea of running his team by means of tiny radio receivers installed in players' helmets. Twice this season Brown's brainchild has boomeranged. Sunday, the New York Giants listened in on the Cleveland frequency, intercepting messages intended for quarterback George Ratterman. New York won 21-9.

In the season's opener, the Chicago Cardinals used the radio set-up to set down the Browns 9-7.

The Chicago Bears, who haven't won a conference title since 1946, are threatening to become the scourge they were in the early 1940s. Last season's leaders in total yards gained (4,316) and first downs (235) unleashed a potent attack in burying the San Francisco 49ers 31-7, rolling up 22 first downs and 483 yards, all but 86 on the ground. The week before they went 466 yards in trouncing Green Bay 37-21.

The way Detroit rookie Don McIlhenny has been going, he could be the second freshman to win the ball-carrying title in two years. The Colts' Alan (The Horse) Ameche won it last year with 961 yards in 213 tries for a 4.5 average. Before that Bill Paschal of the New York Giants won it in 1943.

Mob Storms Phone Exchanges; Operators, Police Stoned

Portsmouth Telephone Service Cut Off; Workers Evacuated

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A crowd of about 500 persons stormed telephone exchanges in this area late Monday night, threw rocks and beer bottles at operators and police alike, and put Scioto County under a phone "blackout" again, the state highway patrol reported.

One man was injured when hit in the head with a brick. Capt. G. A. Unkle, state highway patrolman in charge, said his men had no jurisdiction and could not interfere with the crowd. Unkle said he too was hit on the head with a brick but that he was not hurt.

The first outbreak occurred at the nearby New Boston exchange of the struck Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. It spread to the Portsmouth exchange and the nearby Sciotoville exchange.

The company then closed all exchanges in Scioto County after police evacuated some 50 company personnel and took them to Columbus. The county was without phone service for the second time in four days.

Unkle said the crowd, which he estimated at 500, converged on the New Boston exchange about 11 p.m. (EST) after assembling throughout the afternoon.

He said the crowd was joined by steelworkers from the Portsmouth division of Detroit Steel Corp.

The crowd threw rocks and beer bottles at the exchange and also telephones which they had taken from their homes and business places. The phones were smashed against the exchange building wall and on the street, and piled up on the steps to the exchange, Unkle said.

Unkle said he called Fred Brown, New Boston police chief, and quoted Brown as saying, "There is nothing we can do." Unkle said Brown and New Boston policemen stood by and saw the crowd hurl the phones but took no action.

The patrol then advised the company to close the exchange from the building. One operator, James Pfoermer, was hit with a brick and suffered head cuts, Unkle said. The missiles also were hurled at state highway patrolmen, he said.

About 200 persons then went to the Portsmouth exchange where Col. George Mingle, state highway patrol superintendent, lined up about 24 of his men on the sidewalk in front of the exchange. About a dozen Portsmouth policemen joined them.

Unkle said the crowd threatened to storm the exchange and drag out the personnel inside — nine women and one man. They proceeded to throw missiles at the building.

Portsmouth Police Chief Hugh Rudity said he called Ray White, secretary to Gov. Frank J. Lausche, and that White had suggested the company also close the Portsmouth exchange. This was done.

Meanwhile, police escorted out the people inside. There was no trouble when this was done, Unkle said.

The crowd then went to the Etna Mar Motel on Portsmouth's east side where 24 company employees were staying. But before the crowd got there, police arrived and put the company personnel in cruisers.

As a safety precaution, police also took company personnel from the downtown LaSalle Hotel here and put them in cruisers. The crowd, meanwhile, drifted to the Sciotoville exchange, but police got there ahead of them and took out five people working there.

Col. Mingle indicated he will withdraw his some 60 state patrolmen from the town this morning. Under statute, the patrol can't interfere in labor difficulties. Its jurisdiction covers only crimes perpetrated on streets and highways.

Gov. Lausche had suggested that Scioto County enforcement agencies deputize the state patrolmen. But Sid Griffith, a company attorney, said a legal technicality had prevented this. Griffith said the technicality is that the patrolmen are not residents of the county and therefore can't be deputized.

Scioto County phone service was blacked out last Friday following similar demonstrations at company exchanges the night before. After Gov. Lausche ordered state patrolmen into the area, service was resumed Monday afternoon.

It was the third time in less than a month that Portsmouth phone service was cut off. The first occasion was a three-day blackout beginning Sept. 18 after five company supervisors were attacked by a group of some 30 men while they repaired damaged cables.

The New Boston exchange has been closed down intermittently since Aug. 16 after violence there. The striking Communications Workers of America has consistently denied knowledge of who has committed the violence and vandalism that has marked the three-month-long strike.

Earlier Monday, state patrolmen drew sullen catcalls and shouts of "storm troopers" and "where's Lausche?" from loiterers around the exchanges.

Col. Mingle told one group that gathered:

"The state highway patrol is not going to be used to break this strike. Our job simply is to protect people and property."

Meanwhile, company representatives and negotiators for the Communications Workers of America announced they would resume talks Wednesday in another effort to end the 94-day-old strike.

Homer H. Hickling, chief deputy legal administrator of the state industrial commission, said a commission hearing in Columbus will begin as scheduled Wednesday even though only the union has promised to be represented.

"The proceedings will not specifically be a negotiations but a fact-finding hearing," Hickling said. "For that reason we can go ahead with just one party present."

The company has refused to attend the session. The strike began last July 15 when the company-union contract expired. Some 18 issues, primarily job classification, a no strike clause, arbitration and a union shop are reportedly blocking agreement on a new contract.

Mosier Reinstated To Hospital Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state civil service commission has ordered E. Mosier reinstated as business manager of Apple Creek State Hospital near Wooster.

Mosier was advised Monday in a letter from Carl Smith, commission chairman, that the order removing him from his job has been "disaffirmed." The commission directed that he be reinstated to his former post effective last Aug. 7.

Mosier's dismissal by the state department of mental hygiene and disclosure that a $20,000 house had been built for Mosier on the hospital grounds without authorization by the Legislature.

Mosier has disclaimed there was any fraud connected with construction of the house. He testified at a hearing held by a legislative subcommittee appointed to fix responsibility for the unauthorized construction.

Russians Not Sleeping Properly, Visitor Says

NEW YORK (AP) — "Russia is not sleeping properly," says a mattress company executive just back from the Soviet Union.

John W. Hubbell said on his return Sunday that a thin, cotton-filled mattress used on many Russian beds is at fault.

He said he paid 170 rubles — about $42.50 — for one of the Russian mattresses.

"If this were put on a special sale here in a department store for five dollars," Hubbell said, "they wouldn't sell any."

A Gal Engineer

By HAL BOYLE

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — There is a young gal engineer here who holds down a top job in building America's guided missiles — but admits she can't fix her own motor car.

"I can change a tire," said Ruth Harlam, smiling. "But if anything goes wrong with the motor, I take it to the garage just like everybody else."

The current national shortage of trained engineers has broken down much of the old antipathy against career women in this field. At 32 Miss Harlam, dark-haired and quietly attractive, is a rising star rule princess of the Atomic Era.

She is a project supervisor in developing launching mechanisms for two key weapons in the Nation's defense arsenal — the "Talos" and "Bomarc" guided missiles. She directs a staff of 23 male draftsmen and engineers in the laboratory of the American Machine & Foundry Co.

It sounds like an unfeminine job, and Miss Harlam was advanced to it because of the outstanding work she did on such other unfeminine projects as a new howitzer, an anti-aircraft gun and a tank.

But the gal is thoroughly feminine. She wears dresses in the laboratory, donning slacks only when her job sometimes makes them more practical. She likes to knit and would rather cook than eat out, eventually hopes to marry and have a family.

"I got into this by accident," she recalled. "I started doing some tracing work for my brother who was studying drafting. But he wound up in sales work, and I ended up an engineer."

Miss Harlam blushed when asked if her knowledge of thermodynamics might operate as a barrier to romance by making her too critical of men, who are usually more than dynamic.

"No, I don't think so," she said. "Men are human after all and not an engineering problem. There is no predictable scientific law on how two people fall in love."

She has found neither her sex nor her youth much of a handicap in supervising men engineers senior to her.

"They don't resent me," she said. "In engineering work, what determines how a thing gets done is whether it is right or wrong. Whether a girl says it or a man makes no difference."

"Girls with the right training and the right attitude toward their work can do as well as men. There is a certain amount of prejudice against them still, but most of it can be overcome by showing you can do the work."

It bothers her occasionally that so far most of her career has been spent in developing military weapons.

"But out of all these projects come peaceful uses," she said, "and I hope to see the day when it will be possible for nations to devote at least half the money and effort now going into defense weapons to more peaceful goals."

"My own dream is to find a way to make solar energy available cheaply for the home."

Miss Harlam is interested in teaching. She feels that today all engineering and science graduates are duty-bound to do at least some part-time teaching.

"But it has a special responsibility," she said soberly. "In working with machinery if something goes wrong, we can throw it away and start over.

"But if you make a mistake in teaching, you can't throw the child away."
